Subscription: One year, $3; one month, 25 cts; single copy, 1 cent.
Members of the Publishers' Press.—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.
Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.
Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

A GAIN OF 400

In the daily circulation of the Times since Jan. 1st is something no other Washington county daily can show.

The circulation statements of the Times can always be verified by anyone who so wishes. Press room, circulation books, paper bills and all that pertain to the circulation of the Times are open to the inspection of all. Is there any other Washington county daily that will show up in like manner?

Now that Colombia finds she may lose the canal her senate is showing a more conciliatory tone and is moving to reconsider the matter and there is hope that the treaty will be ratified.

The Ohio Democrats are alarmed at the increase of monopolies and named a monopolizer for governor. They declare the trusts are due to the Republican party, and the recent outbreak of lynchings, are charged to the growth of the trusts. This explains, perhaps, why Hays, Lord and Fairchild, and other Republican editors of Vermont are advocating lynchings.

The rival wireless telegraph companies trying to report the yacht races accuse each other of intercepting their despatches. The Marconi system claimed to be the sufferer Tuesday, and that the DeForest system made it impossible for the former to send its messages to land. As the Times is a recipient of the DeForest despatches, this may explain how it was so far ahead of all rivals in issuing its paper with a complete report of the races on Tuesday. The Times sent papers to Montpelier and had them on sale there on that day before the Capital city papers containing the result of the races were issued.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Sarah Bernhardt will be fifty-nine years old in October.

Ada Cawendine, a graduate of a London training school for nurses, is in charge of the only hospital on the Labrador thousand mile coast line.

Miss Agnes M. Clarke, whose astronomical writings have made her famous, is a native of Ireland and says that her passion for the stars dates from earliest childhood.

The young Duchess of Marlborough has a strange taste in pets. At Blenheim she has set up a menagerie in which are two ostriches, several eagles and vultures and an ibis.

The Countess de Nadac breeds great numbers of butterflies in her drawing rooms. Baroness de Rothschild is another devotee of this fancy, and it is said to be quite a craze among Parisian women at present.

A Chicago girl, Miss Elinor C. Clapp, has won reputation as a designer of odd jewelry. An apt student of arts and crafts, she creates distinctive effects with metals and the semiprecious stones for materials.

Mrs. S. Van Benschoten Cruger has a long, teakwood chain, which she frequently wears. This string of beads, each one of which is almost as large as a twenty-five cent piece, hangs down the front of her dress almost to her knees.

Miss Annie Shingleur of Jackson, Miss., has been for several years manager for a firm dealing in cotton. She thoroughly understands the business, having worked her way up from the position of bookkeeper. She is a devotee of outdoor sports and a woman of literary culture.

Among her many accomplishments Mrs. Roosevelt counts that rare and charming one of housewifery. She knows how food should be cooked. She is orderly and businesslike in her housework methods, without being that most deplorable perversion of neatness known as a "fuss," and she has a genius for managing (not humoring) servants.

ODDITIES IN PLANTS.

A rosebush more than fifty years old and still blooming profusely is in the possession of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Keller of West Rockport, Me.

In the arid deserts of Peru the celebrated "rain tree" grows. This species can condense what little moisture there is in the atmosphere so as to cause a continued mist to exude seemingly from its leaves and branches.

J. H. Loveland of Putney, Vt., recently exhibited a curiosity in fruit growth, being a pear tree branch on which, growing in a cluster of blossoms, was a Bartlett pear about the size of the average Seckel pear.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Gen. O. O. Howard has returned to Burlington from a trip of four weeks in the Western states. He has been delivering lectures on the Civil War and Grant and Sherman.

Andrew Edison, assistant superintendent of schools in New York city, and who has recently been instructor in the summer school at Columbia college, is now taking a short vacation with his family at his summer home in Brookfield.

Mrs. George Mellich of Woodstock was 90 years old Friday, and during the afternoon she received many congratulations from friends who had been invited in. Mrs. Mellich has not been well for some years, but is able to be up a few hours each day, and to see most of her visitors.

The officers of the Vermont National Guard have presented a complete set of horse equipments to H. W. Hovey of the regular army, who was promoted from captain to major August 14. Major Hovey was detailed to represent the war department at the recent encampment of the Vermont regiment.

A complaint was lodged last Saturday with State's Attorney F. A. Bailey against Oscar Martin of Warren, and papers issued charging him with intoxication and malicious mischief, and to both offenses he pleaded guilty on Monday before Judge Horace W. Lyford at Warren and took his medicine. It was charged that while Dr. H. T. J. Howe of Waitsfield was paying professional visits in Warren on Saturday he left his horse in a barn and that Oscar Martin, who was in an alleged intoxicated condition, cut off the horse's tail near where the hair starts to grow, took out the doctor's medicine case and scattered the contents around the barn floor, breaking a number of the bottles and throwing the case into a silo. He also took a leather wallet and removed the papers, some of which were found on the floor and others given up by Martin after his arrest on Monday. Martin was fined $5.51 for intoxication and $14.51 for malicious mischief, paying both fines. The state was represented by State's Attorney Bailey.

Lyttton's Good Catch.

Bulwer-Lytton was once entertaining at Knobworth a young Australian when the visitor from Melbourne, shy and clumsy, took from the mantelpiece a piece of china lately given his host by a grateful colonial. It slipped out of his hands. In another moment it would have been shivered upon the hearth. The host, from his sofa, saw what had happened, was up in an instant, stretched out his hand and caught the bowl just ere it descended on the marble. "Fielded, by Jove! But I save my crockery, which I would rather not have written 'Money' than have lost," cried the novelist.

The Rich Man's Plight.

I don't see what good my money does me. I can't eat. I never saw it in its entirety. I dress no better than my private secretary and have a much smaller appetite than my coachman. I live in a big barn of a house, am pestered to death by beggars, have dyspepsia, and most of my money is in the hands of others, who use it mainly for their own benefit.—New York Press.

Taste For Color.

Our hero beat his young wife until she was black and blue. "The feminine characters in a society novel are so apt to be colorless," said he in explanation of the seeming gaucherie.—Detroit Free Press.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Batiste, alone and combined with heavier materials, will be much used for blouses to be worn with tailored gowns.

Everything to match the gown will be demanded this fall. Not only hats, gloves and veils to match will be worn, but umbrellas of the same color will be carried.

Velveteen gowns are predicted, and the manufacturers advertise an altogether new production of this old time favorite, warranted to stand reasonable wear without croaking or creasing.

Precisely all the new walking suits are ankle length, or at any rate escape the ground. The drop skirt has been found rather unsatisfactory worn with these short skirts, and there is a decided tendency to a return to the lined and slightly stiffened skirt.

Chiffon velvet is a new and very beautiful trimming material and one which will not become too common, as its price puts it beyond the reach of most purses. The material is so light in weight and so soft in texture that a half yard can easily be crushed in the palm of one's hand. It comes in all the new shades.—New York Post.
